The vital parts of the project - contributors and the fundraising committee - came together Friday evening to celebrate the results of their efforts, the shiny new Zamboni that will keep the ice at A. G. Ross Arena in top shape for figure skaters, hockey players and recreational skaters for many years to come.

Zamboni celebrated by many partners

Elk Point Minor Hockey celebrated the beginning of the new season with an appreciation night for all those who had contributed toward the new Zamboni that arrived in Elk Point in February, just prior to the PeeWee Provincials.

"If not for the generous support you have given us, we wouldn't have that beautiful machine out there at center ice," Minor Hockey president Jason Jenner told the assembly of donors, which included Minister of Municipal Affairs, the Hon. Ray Danyluk, County of St. Paul councillor Glen Ockerman, representatives of businesses and groups as well as individuals. "In two short years, that $94,000 machine is paid for and the kids are enjoying this arena more because of it."

The Zamboni project was spearheaded by Minor Hockey past president Edie Lowry, with the help of Doug Bassett, Toni May, Dave Zacharuk, Desiree Maas and

Murray Boratynec. Jenner said that early on in the fundraising process, "Edie bumped into Ray (Danyluk) and told him we were raising money for a new Zamboni. He said, 'Come to my office next week,' and we ended up with $44,520 from the Alberta Lottery Fund."

Fifteen individuals, businesses and groups, including three minor hockey teams, contributed amounts ranging from $72.70 to $900 toward the project, 10 more contributed between $1,000 and $1,500.

The County of St. Paul and E-Can Oilfield Services each put in $5,000.

"Unbelievable support" totaling $9,000 came from a family with many years of involvement with the arena, in the form of the proceeds from the Pete Stafford Memorial Golf Tournament, while the remaining $15,161 required for the purchase came from CCS, "who called up and asked us how much more we needed," Jenner said.

Mayor Parrish Tung and Elk Point Chamber of Commerce vice president Lesia Porcina accepted the big cheque from the Hon. Ray Danyluk on Friday.

EcoCentre 'all about the community' – Danyluk

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

"It's all about the community working together," Minister of Municipal Affairs, the Hon. Ray Danyluk said as he presented Elk Point Chamber of Commerce vice-president Lesia Porcina and Mayor Parrish Tung with a $182,906 cheque toward the planned EcoCentre. "This is an opportunity to preserve our heritage, our history and our community."

Porcina said she was "excited, and looking forward to starting on the EcoCentre," and thanked Danyluk and his office staff for their assistance with the groundwork for the grant application. This is the second grant to go toward the project, following a $54,000 grant in 2006.

The chamber began work on the project in 2005 when they decided to purchase, move in and renovate the former Mynam train station for use as a tourist information centre. When restoration costs proved to be prohibitive, the chamber obtained plans for Elk Point's original train station, and although the group briefly considered a much more elaborate structure, have returned to those plans, with a minor expansion and changes to the interior layout.

The decision to turn the building into an environmentally-friendly, self-sustainable structure using solar power and geothermal heating was made in mid-2007, after considerable research by Thomas Kondla. He also suggested that the building could then become a facility to educate students and the general public on "green" technology and energy.

The minister called Elk Point "a community in the proudest sense of the word. People are working together and the chamber does such a good job of promotion."

Danyluk also praised the chamber for their choice of location, near "where the highway and the Iron Horse Trail meet, and after Parrish ties in a walking trail, it will be even better. It will be another attraction for the town."

"And it all started because we needed a bigger tourist booth," said Porcina.

Construction is expected to start in early spring of 2009.

Elk Point Minor Hockey president Jason Jenner and celebration organizer Desiree Maas proudly display the handsome plaque listing the individuals, groups, businesses and governments that played a valuable role in helping A. G. Ross Arena to achieve their goal of a new Zamboni for the A. G. Ross Arena.

Minister of Municipal Affairs Ray Danyluk shares a laugh with Jason Jenner after the Lac La Biche- St. Paul MLA presented a congratulatory certificate from the Government of Alberta to Elk Point Minor Hockey in recognition of their achievement.

All sponsors, along with the committee who conducted the fundraising, were recognized with certificates of appreciation, and all the sponsors were listed on a large plaque unveiled Friday night, which will hang in the arena.

Support for the arena continues, Jenner noted.

"This summer, we wanted to get new lights. We went to Pyramid Corp. and got quotes." The company was extremely busy, but before the ice went in, "they did it," going "above and beyond the call of duty."

A provincial grant is also being used to pay part of the cost of that upgrade, and "I want to make sure everybody knows what role the government can play in assisting organizations. Please come and see us and we will let you know what we can do to help you," Danyluk said. He listed various grants, including CFEP for upgrades to existing buildings and noted that up to $500,000 is available "for major facelifts. You have paid into these programs with your work, use that to get some back. Let us support you."

He added that while organizations are willing to work hard on big projects, "it takes a lot of pies, loonie sticks and 50/50s. This community very much exemplifies that."

There has never been a grant like the Municipal Sustainability Initiative, Danyluk said, which comes with a component aimed at supporting volunteer groups.

"If your municipality supports you, we can match that funding, and we can help put that application together."

Danyluk said Elk Point has "such a good reputation as a community. It's something to be proud of."

Cold weather and cold-hearted vandals

By ALEX BUCK

F. G. Miller High School

It was a cold Oct. 20 at F. G. Miller High School as students wondered why the school's temperature was so cold that morning. Later in the day it was revealed to students that the previous weekend, the school had once again become a victim of vandalism, causing the cold temperatures. Vandals had climbed on top of the school roof in order to tear apart rooftop air vents and air conditioning. In tearing apart the air conditioning, the vandals damaged electrical wiring, cutting off power to the school's boiler. As well, another window had been smashed.

Feelings were cold at the school, as these cases of vandalism have drastically increased this year over last. Throughout the first two months of this semester there have been five windows smashed.

Cheri Lindquist, vice-principal at F. G. Miller, says they are unsure at this point how much the damages will cost as an estimate of the latest damages has yet to be taken.

"The police are still investigating and we are hopeful they will be caught."

When asked about rumours that most of this damage is coming, not from younger students, but from graduates, Lindquist commented that there is a possibility that this damage is coming from an older crowd.

Alcohol has been a factor in the damage. Principal Colin Bjorkman confirmed rumours that empty beer bottles were found on the roof.

The school's technology budget at the beginning of the year includes funding for security cameras for the school grounds. It seems that they may come as more of a relief than anticipated.

Students on board for Extravaganza

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The Christmas Extravaganza planning committee will have the help of a dozen or more senior high school students to solve a problem that has been ongoing ever since the Winter Wonderland Parade was added to the festive lineup.

The teens, possibly with the help of some younger students, have volunteered to hand out candy to parade watchers, thus minimizing the danger of children running out into the street to collect the treats. In past years, the chamber has attempted to discourage float owners from throwing candy, but their efforts were not totally successful, and some businesses have opted not to enter a float because of the risky combination of dim light conditions and eager children. Candy thrown from floats also tended to disappear into snow and slush instead of reaching the parade watchers.

The students will also serve as a clean-up crew after the event and are willing to sell 50/50 tickets.

Another group that has expressed a willingness to help with the evening is Jack and Jill Playschool, who are hoping to provide games for children during the evening.

One of the chamber's newest member businesses,

Trinkets and Treasures, is planning to support the Playschool with a hot dog sale at their location during Extravaganza, and also plan to have a bonfire and a wagon ride stop there.

Arrangements for two popular attractions are well in hand, with last year's photographer confirmed for the Photos with Santa, which will once again be hosted by ATB Financial. Three teamsters agreeing to bring their horses and wagons to town to provide wagon rides.

A long-ago Extravaganza attraction will make a comeback this year, with an outdoor skating rink to be located in the Apple Drugs parking lot for the occasion.

The committee will meet again Nov. 3 to continue planning for the Nov. 28 event.

Jack and Jill Playschool began a new fundraising initiative last week, when they set up recycle boxes for computer cartridges at several locations around Elk Point. Students Paige Skarsen and Wyatt Pavoll and teacher Erin Mohyluk try out one of the boxes, which are now located at the Elks Hall, Elk Point Elementary School, Elk Point Co-op, Rona and Warawa and Associates. Those with cartridges to contribute may also phone Coralea at 780-724-3872 for pickup.

What you need to know about changing smoke alarm batteries

When you change your clocks on November 2nd, remember to change the batteries in your smoke alarms!

- Smoke alarms provide early warning of smoke and fire danger to enable quick evacuation, night or day, during a fire emergency in your home.
- Smoke alarms did not sound an alarm in one-third of all Alberta homes that had a fire incident, primarily due to dead or missing batteries.
- Never remove batteries from smoke alarms for other uses or to stop nuisance alarms. A "chirping" sound means "replace the battery."

For more information on smoke alarm safety, visit www.aema.alberta.ca

Stay safe this Halloween

Halloween is fun, but it's not the safest night of the year, whether you're a youngster out collecting treats, an older teen or adult attending a party with your friends, or a driver heading home from work or shopping.

Trick-or-treaters and their parents must make sure that all costumes allow clear vision of where they're going and what is around them and are visible by motorists. Costumes should be short enough that the wearers won't trip over the bottoms or have trouble climbing up and down stairs.

Parents should accompany all younger children, and should caution older children to go only to homes where they know the occupants. Trick and treaters should cross streets only at corners and must never pop out from between parked cars.

Now, more than ever, it is important for parents to inspect treats before the youngster takes even one bite.

Older doesn't necessarily mean wiser, and the adults need to think of their safety too, both in terms of costume and getting home safe and sound.

All drivers need to be extra cautious on Halloween as well, in order to avoid an incident that could come back to haunt them for the rest of their lives.

Jackie Gulayec was presented with the Best All-Around Student award by Dr. K. C. Miller at the F. G. Miller High School Awards Night, where Cory Blize received the citizenship award from Dr. Bruce Kleeberger, who praised his involvement with army cadets. Steve Stepaniuk was sworn in as the new Deputy Mayor at the Town of Elk Point's annual organizational meeting, hours before Mayor Byron Mann left his post due to a job transfer.

Deborah Grey swept Beaver River in the federal election vote, capturing 59 per cent of the votes, with Liberal Mike Zacharko coming in second and Progressive Conservative Dave Broda a distant third. Hospital Board chairman John Mohyluk, administrator Clem Johnson and director of nursing Colleen Simon were happy to announce another three-year accreditation for Elk Point Municipal Hospital.

1998

Elk Point Interagency Health Committee planned a promotional campaign to encourage use of Elk Point Health Centre by local residents in order to lessen the chances of services being eliminated or cut back. Elk Point Parent Nursery stood the test of time, opening for a 20th year to bring moms and tots together on a weekly basis at the United Church hall.

2003

Despite rumours to the contrary, Elk Point Elementary School was still available for community use, principal Lorne Young said, provided community use does not interfere with educational delivery to students. Sparky the Fire Dog was a big hit at Elk Point Elementary when he accompanied members of the Volunteer Fire Department and Elk Point Ambulance to the school for a special presentation on fire prevention and coping with emergencies.

GUEST COLUMN

Halloween fun

This coming Friday, yes, this coming Friday, the last day of October, is Halloween. In Elk Point, Halloween hours are 4 - 7 p.m. and our young children will be knocking on doors shouting: "trick or treat" or "Halloween apples". These children have dressed up in their favourite "character" costumes, and most of us really enjoy these young ones coming to our doors. So yes, we will be glad to hand out some king of treat wrapped in paper.

deanna
from the FCSS desk

Halloween is on October 31, and it is also the weekend we turn our clocks back one hour to end Daylight Saving Time. So yes, it is a important time.

In history, October 31 is the last day of the Celtic calendar. It was originally a pagan holiday, honouring the dead. Halloween was referred to as All Hallows Eve and dates back to over 2000 years ago. All Hallows Eve is the evening before All Saints Day, which was created by Christians to convert pagans, and is celebrated on November 1. The Catholic Church honoured saints on this designated day.

So how does this connect with our Halloween of today? Halloween culture can be traced back to the Druids, a Celtic culture in Ireland, Britain and Northern Europe. Roots lay in the feast of Samhain, which was annually on October 31 to honour the dead. Samhain signifies "summers end" or November. Samhain was a harvest festival with huge sacred bonfires, marking the end of the Celtic year and beginning of a new one. Many of the practices involved in this celebration were fed on superstition. Often, sacrifices were made to Samhain, the Lord of the dead in order to satisfy him. The Celts believed the souls of the dead roamed the streets and villages at night. Since not all spirits were thought to be friendly, gifts and treats were left out to pacify the evil and ensure next years crops would be plentiful. This custom evolved into trick-or-treating.

Then of course common superstitions, omens and myths go along with Halloween. According to Webster's dictionary, superstition is any belief that is inconsistent with the known laws of science or with what is considered true and rational. Thus, being superstitious about black cats really is not true. Apparently black cats were believed to be a supernatural omen since the witch hunts of the middle ages when cats were thought to be connected to evil. Since then, it is considered bad luck if a black cat crosses your path.

Irregardless of all the historical background of Halloween, let's all just have a fun day and make sure our children do likewise. Anyway, speaking of Halloween scary stuff of cats, witches, etc. let me quote the fun verses of "Three Little Witches."

*One little, two little, three little witches,
Fly over hay stacks, fly over ditches,
Slide down the moon beams
Without any hitches,

*Stand on your head with a lopsided wiggle,
Tickle your little black cats till they giggle,
Swish through clouds
With a higgedy piggle,

Deacon Sych to be ordained Saturday in St. Paul

By CLARE GAUVREAU
Review Contributor

Members of the region's Ukrainian Catholic community will gather in celebration this Saturday for the conferring of the order of priesthood on Deacon Basil Sych who has served the area's Ukrainian Catholic parishes since August.

Bishop David Motiuk of the Ukrainian Catholic Eparchy of Edmonton will confer the ordination rites in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Cathedral, as the community's Ukrainian Catholic Church is not large enough to accommodate the crowd that is expected to attend the celebration. Sych serves eight churches in the district including St. Paul, Vilna, Bonnyville and Elk Point.

Sych said Saturday's service will be "quite ecumenical" as invitations to all the Christian churches in area have been extended.

For the 42-year-old Deacon, his ordination into the priesthood is confirmation that what he believed possible as a child has come to pass.

"There is much peace and joy in knowing you are where God is calling you to be," Sych said. "I was a kid when I believed I had this call." He tells the story of how, as a young farm boy of nine, a priest in his community of Hay Lakes spoke to his brother of becoming a priest. "I thought 'why him?' I could be a priest."

Sych said the road to his ordination has been a long one with no easy shortcuts.

At age 20 he attended St. Paul's University in Ottawa, studying theology. It was here that he was to meet the woman who would become his wife, Denise. They were married in 1994. The couple spent some time working as pastoral associates in remote native communities in northern Alberta at Little Buffalo and Cadotte Lake and in later years they would find themselves in Pickle Lake, 550 km north of Hudson Bay in service to the Roman Catholic Diocese.

Sych's arrival in St. Paul with his wife and three children follows a one-year internship at St. Josaphat's Ukrainian Catholic Cathedral in Edmonton. He has the highest regard for Bishop Motiuk and for the support and guidance the Bishop has provided in enabling Sych to fulfill his calling.

"This is the best thing that has happened to us since we've been married," Sych said of his move to St. Paul.

A good crowd was on hand well ahead of the 5 p.m. starting time, and quickly heeded the call to dig in and enjoy the traditional feast prepared with care by the willing volunteers of the Order of Royal Purple for one of their most popular fundraising events of the year. Heinsburg Community Club also held their annual fall supper this past weekend.

Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple held their annual Fall Supper last Friday evening with a capacity crowd enjoying turkey and all the trimmings. At left, OORP members Lena Stepa, Lillian Ewasiuk and Jane Dikeman get some assistance from Elks member Mike Chubey to ready the dishes for serving. This year's supper was held upstairs in the hall, due to the new location of Jack and Jill Playschool in th lower floor. The Royal Purple were very happy to have the assistance of some of the Brother Elks to help transport the food upstairs to the waiting crowd.

Ice? Check. Referees? Check. Zamboni? Check. Now for some hockey action!

What do you think about the wind lately? Unbelievable, isn't it, especially this past Saturday. Blew a number shingles right off the arena roof on the northwest corner. Yes, I know, just what we need, another job for someone to tackle.

BASSETT
Review Sports

Too bad we can't harness that power and use it to run the plant and lights at the arena, or something like that. Maybe when we fix the shingles, we could set up a big turbine on the roof and try it out. Make our own power. Sounds crazy, but for the amount we are paying, I think it would work, or perhaps have our own power plant like they have at the hospitals. Of course then we would have to pay for diesel and it seems like there's a shortage of it lately too, or is just to keep the prices up? Makes you wonder sometimes!

A great turnout for the referee clinic held this past weekend, taught by our very own Mark Woytkiw. Mark started his referee career here in Elk Point when he was a young lad like most of the students in his class this past weekend, but like very few, he stuck with it and now does many Junior A, Junior B and senior games, along with teaching the courses. When I asked him how he managed to put up with all the abuse over the years from parents and coaches, he replied, "Pardon me?" Must be hard of hearing, I guess!

Hey, you know what my point is here, let's give these young kids a chance, I'm sure they will make mistakes, but many of them will turn out to be good officials someday, if you let them.

We've had a lot of volunteer help in the past few weeks to get things ready for the season and they're still continuing to help with everything from cleaning to running the Zamboni. George and Chris from the Town of Elk Point along with two young guys, Dino Meger and Wyatt "Mad Dog" Dewan, spent all of the Friday before Thanksgiving painting the ice white.

This is what we've all be waiting for. Coming up this weekend on Saturday Nov. 1, a full day of hockey at the A.G.R., starting with the Novice at 10a.m., followed by the Atoms, PeeWees and finally the Bantam boys at 7 p.m.

A big happy birthday going out today to Keith and Sue Campbell. How many married people do you know who were born on the same day? Strange, but it's true. In some ways it would be great, you'd never be in trouble forgetting when your spouse's birthday was.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "There's a bus leaving for Oklahoma City at eleven o'clock. Be under it!" Last week's answer to: "Who's your skating coach? Nancy Kerrigan? Stay on over. The Ice Follies come tomorrow and you can earn an honest living." - Taunt by a fan at a smooth-skating European player.

Town-sponsored Hip Hop dancing classes came to Elk Point two weeks ago, and were well received by local youths, who turned out in good numbers to receive instruction from Terry Hanstock. Warm-up exercises, which also increase the stamina and flexibility the body needs for this style of dancing, are followed by instruction on the various dance steps, then the two come together at the end of the weekly sessions, held each Thursday after school in the Elk Point Elementary gym. There is still room for more participants, and the free lessons are held on a drop-in basis, so young people can come whenever they have the time available.

AB5254 hosts Mexican fiesta for TOPS members

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Elk Point branch AB5354 of Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) hosted a gala Mexican fiesta at Elk Point Baptist Church on Saturday, with members of branches in Lloydminster, Vermilion, Bonnyville, Riverhurst, Rich Lake, Athabasca, Plamaondon, Newbrook, St. Paul, Mallaig, Boyle and Goodridge joining the local group for a day of fun.

The day started off with a welcome message from local member Sheila Thompson, followed by the TOPS and KOPS pledges, led by Elk Point members Levina Ewasiuk, Sherry Smith and Jeanny Duffee.

"It makes my heart happy to see this tremendous turnout," area coordinator Brenda Nichols said, "It shows a tremendous commitment to ourselves and to TOPS."

Area captain Aline Dechaine said the event was "well beyond our expectations" despite the small size of the hosting group. "What you have done is truly amazing."

Six of Elk Point's eight members started off the morning's entertainment with a rousing dance routine to the TOPS song, sung to the tune of YMCA. St. Paul members did a skit showing lifestyle differences, with one becoming more and one less well-upholstered as time went on.

Nichols and Dechaine handed out a number of weight loss awards to TOPS members who showed a loss from their first weigh-in of January 2008 to the final weigh-in in August, and to KOPS who have stayed between seven pounds under and three pounds over their goal weight during that period.

Boyle TOPS leader Leyann Joyes was the day's featured speaker, and said that 70 per cent of Canadians are overweight. "I chose not to be one of those people..." She weighed 167 pounds when she started attending TOPS meetings with her mother, who wanted to lose some weight. "I wanted to lose some baby weight, so I went along to keep her on track."

Joyes now weighs 133, with "only three pounds to reach my goal. I believe that diets do not work. You need to make a lifestyle change, eating better, making better choices and getting more exercise. You need to be strong inside and outside. Each day should be a healthy choice day."

Joyes loves to run and celebrated her 30th birthday by running 23 kilometers to Athabasca. She has since taken part in the Great Canadian Death Race, and plans to run a full marathon and a triathlon in the future.

Many of the ladies got some exercise of their own at this point in the proceedings, with their choice of a half mile walk to the Peter Fidler statue or a mile walk to the Elk Point Mural to give them an appetite for a Mexican-style lunch of taco salad.

The afternoon portion of the rally started off with attempts by several lucky ladies to break a pinata, before the summer awards got underway. Thirteen of 19 chapters took part in the east versus west Challenge 2009, with nine of 13 having net losses. Two new KOPS, one from Boyle and one from Goodridge were congratulated, along with one from PLamondon who regained KOPS status. Bonnyville was the winning chapter in this area, with a net loss of 1.5 pounds per member.

Sheila Thompson presented a thank you gift to guest speaker Leyann Joyes of Boyle.

It wasn't a great day for a walk, but the hardy souls who made the one mile trek to the Elk Point Mural enjoyed seeing the 100-foot-long lineup of the community's history, painted in 1988 by Billie Milhollanad in commemoration of Elk Point's 80th birthday.

Board Members Wanted

Rural Alberta's Development Fund (RADF), an independent not-for-profit company, is seeking applications from individuals interested in serving on its Board of Directors. RADF's mandate is to promote the growth, prosperity and quality of life in rural Alberta by supporting new and/or innovative projects that are sustainable and that strengthen rural Alberta communities.

The twelve member Board of Directors have a broad cross-section of rural knowledge, skills and experience and include present and future leaders of Alberta. Board members are required to make balanced, sound financial decisions that support projects in rural Alberta and result in long-term benefit to Alberta overall. Go to www.ruralalbertasfund.com for more information.

Candidates must demonstrate a good understanding of the challenges facing rural Alberta and are expected to have excellent communication and leadership skills. Qualifications include experience with business and/or community leadership. Experience on community or regional boards is an asset.

RADF wants to reflect the geographic, economic, demographic and ethnic diversity of rural Alberta. This will be a consideration in the selection of new board members. This competition is to fill two vacancies but to also identify suitable candidates for future board of director vacancies.

If you are interested in this unique opportunity, please forward a resume or statement of your qualifications by e-mail, fax or letter to:

Local couple acknowledged at foster parent appreciation night

By JANICE HUSER

Journal Staff

Foster parents throughout the St. Paul, Lac La Biche, Bonnyville and Cold Lake area were celebrated last week at a special Foster Parent Appreciation and Awards Banquet on Oct. 23, including one local couple in specific.

"To each and every foster parent, I would like to say thank you," said Leona Murphy, Foster Care Support Worker for the surrounding area. "Thank you for consoling the frightened children," along with offering "dedication and commitment" to the children, she added.

The St. Paul Senior Citizen Centre was filled with local foster parents, some with less than a year experience, others with more than 20 years. But regardless of their experience, each foster parent in attendance was thanked for the service they offer to children in need.

Within the area, 107 families are helping about 200 children.

"Where would we be without you?" said Dr. David Rideout, the CEO for Region 7. "You're providing an invaluable service." He explained that the province is currently embarking on a recruitment campaign to attract additional foster families.

The appreciation banquet was held in conjunction with Foster Family Week which ran from Oct. 20 to 25. And along with recognizing all foster parents in attendance, three awards were also handed out on Wednesday night.

The first award was given to local couple Barbara and Kelly Sibley.

"It takes a very special person to be a foster parent," said County of St. Paul Coun. Cliff Martin as he introduced the couple, who in fact live near Martin. He explained that through foster parenting, the Sibley's "give children the opportunity to grow."

During the past 15 years, the Sibley's have become known for taking in children who often have disabilities. Many of the children taken in by the family have subsequently become permanent members.

Barbara and Kelly were described as "quiet achievers," along with being called mentors who offer support and love. Region 7 representatives then presented the foster parents with a gift, recognizing their many years as foster parents.

Representatives from Region 7 North Central Alberta Child and Family Services Authority present local foster parents Barbara and Kelly Sibley with a gift at last week's Foster Parent Appreciation and Awards Banquet. County of St. Paul Coun. Cliff Martin was also on hand for the presentation.

As Kelly accepted the award, he offered a special thank you to the social workers.

The second couple to receive a special award was Louise Lapointe and Paul Ubsdell of Bonnyville.

"It's a wonderful thing you do," said M.D. of Bonnyville Reeve Ed Rondeau as he introduced the couple, adding, "If you guys don't make it to heaven, then I'm in trouble."

Over their 11 years as foster parents, the couple has welcomed 10 different children into their home, explained Murphy. They have now decided to retire as foster parents and concentrate on the children who are living in their home permanently.

One of the couple's guests, a previous foster child of Louise and Paul, took to the podium to offer her thanks to her foster parents.

"I wasn't able to give to them like they gave to me," she said, later adding, "They were very caring people." The Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act bans the publication of the names of children who are or were in foster care.

The final couple acknowledged was Bernice and Harry Zapesocki, who were also retiring, along with accepting an award for their 10 years as foster parents, taking in 19 foster children in total. One of the couple's past foster children also offered her own personal thank you to the Zapesocki's.

"You two were the most influential people in my teen years," said the past foster child. "You showed me the right path to take."

Throughout the evening, Mayor Glenn Andersen also took to the podium, offering his thoughts about the importance of foster parents.

As a final speaker, Susan Dmyterko, Senior Team Lead - Foster Care, took to the podium.

"Thank you for being the people that you are," said Dmyterko, later adding, "I do count foster parents as blessings in my life."

Church youth offer a lesson in friendship

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Eleven members of the Elk Point United Church youth choir provided the congregation with a strong message on friendship this past Sunday, as they told the age-old story of David and Jonathan, whose friendship proved stronger than the jealousy and hatred Jonathan's father, King Saul, felt for David.

A poem read by Jesse Theriault, an introduction by Ashton Ewasiuk, songs by the choir, scripture readings from 1 Samuel, chapters 18 to 20 by choir members Savannah Lawrence, Haleigh Votour, Jazmine Votour, Morgan Nelson and choir co-leader Diana Anderson led up to a play that portrayed the ongoing antagonism shown by King Saul, played by Katie Nelson, to David, played by Tia Lowry. Jonathan, played by Brooke Gormley, refused to forsake his friend despite his spear-chucking father's aggression, to the point that the king even tried to kill his own son to get to David. Olivia Leaf and Meagan Hawryluk narrated the play.

This was the first dramatic ministry for this year's choir, which also includes Alyssa Maltais and Hailey Berlinguette, who were unable to be at the Oct. 26 service.

Holly Myshaniuk, who shares leadership of the choir with Anderson, thanked the parents of the young ladies for bringing them to the service.

"It's a good thing you're doing here," she said, noting that the girls are involved in learning public speaking, leadership and singing as well as Bible study during their weekly sessions each Wednesday and their once-a-month services.

"They are the joy of my life," she affirmed.

Myshaniuk also reported on upcoming events. The church will hold their annual fall supper on Nov. 4, and practices started last week for the annual Christmas Cantata, which this year will be held on Sunday, Dec. 7 at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church. Anyone wishing to take part, including the older members of the youth choir, is invited to attend the practices at 7 p.m. on Wednesdays at St. Michael's.

King Saul (Katie Nelson) glowers in the background as his son Jonathan (right, played by Brooke Gormley) pledges forever friendship with David (Tia Lowry), in Elk Point United Church Youth Choir's presentation of their first Bible story dramatization of the season.

Deacon Sych

"I feel a lot of things have come together to lead us here. I am a human being like us all and I feel God has worked a life through me."

Saturday's ordination will be a "hope-filled event" for the church and a culmination of Sych's devotion to God and the church.

"It is our actions that really tell the tale. The action of ordination tells us that God is alive, the church is alive and there are people that really believe in the church."

Asked what he believes to be the biggest challenge facing the church today, Sych refers to the fourth commandment: Keep holy the Sabbath.

"What is crucifying Jesus today? I would say the lack of time we are dedicating to God," Sych said. "One of the challenges in our society is to really consecrate time for a Sabbath - to stop and take time to give thanks to our creator and the abundance we have, to truly do it, to have it come from the heart."

The ordination will take place at 11 a.m. Saturday and will be followed by a banquet at the All Saints Ukrainian Catholic Cultural Centre. On Sunday, the newly ordained priest will celebrate his first divine liturgy in the Ukrainian Catholic Church in St. Paul at 9 a.m. followed by a second service at 5 p.m. in the Bonnyville Ukrainian Catholic Church.

IN MEMORIAM

CAPJACK, John

Oct. 13, 1923-Nov. 3, 2003

Five years have passed and gone

Since one we loved so well,

Was taken from our home on earth,

With Jesus Christ to dwell.

The flowers we place upon the grave

May wither and decay,

But the love for him who sleeps beneath

Shall never fade away.

Forever in our hearts
Ann and family.

IN MEMORIAM

KRYVENCHUK, Ralph

Apr. 26, 1939-Oct. 29, 2007

Just when your life was brightest,

Just when your years were best,

You were called from us.
To a home of eternal rest.

You left sweet memories to blossom,

Bearing fruit for the years to come,

In the lives of those who loved you.

Precious memories of days that are gone.

Forever loved and remembered by your family.

Volunteers always welcome @ the library

By DAPHNE SCHNURER

A Memorial Service will be held on Saturday, November 8 at 2:00 p.m. at the Elk Point Seniors Centre, Elk Point with Major Ron Mailmain officiating. Yewchin's Funeral Chapel Ltd. St. Paul. 1-780-645-5177.

THANK YOU

BABCOCK

The family of Murray Evan Babcock would like to thank all of you for the support you have given us at this tragic time.

A special thank you to the Elk Point R.C.M.P. detachment and E.M.S. for their compassion and help. We know that your job is extremely difficult, but you handled the situation very well.

To the Elk Point and District community. Words alone cannot express our gratitude for the food, flowers, donations to Cory's Trust Fund, other donations, cards, phone calls, and the hugs. How fortunate we are to live in a small community.

Cory, Larry & Donna; Leigh, Debbie & Family; Sandra, Wyatt & Family; Carol, Randall & Family.

THANK YOU

BABCOCK

We, the families of the late Murray Evan Babcock would like to express our thanks and gratitude to everyone that helped us through this difficult time. Our special thanks to John Yewchin and Staff for their caring support and guidance which was greatly appreciated.

To the RCMP, Victims Services and E.M.S., we thank you. To Rev. Duane Grant for the beautiful service to honor Murray, also to the following for their part in making this such a special tribute to him.

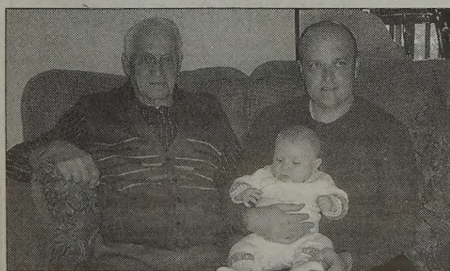

Songs by Michael Parenteau, Scripture reading from Carol Babcock, Hymns by Randall Krys and the Eulogy by Mike Parenteau, all of which gave us great comfort, thank you.

To the many friends and relatives who came with gifts of prayers, food, flowers and donations to the "Cory Babcock Trust Fund" and to all the willing hands from Bethel Church for the delicious luncheon served after the service, we thank you so very much.

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club held their beef project weigh day on Sunday at the home of Glen and Cathy Ockerman. It was a good start at another year of "learning to do by doing" for all the members. Clockwise from above, club president Robyn Ockerman shows new member Nolan Vogel how to make a rope halter; Cathy Ockerman writes down tag numbers and weights as husband Glen shows members how to weigh their calves; senior member Darren Tymofichuk pours Ivomec on his steer's back to prevent parasite infestation; Alanna Ockerman gives a newer member a pep talk on tagging her steer; and Tyler Ockerman and Ashley Bristow check out the weight of Ashley's steer. The club has 11 steers, plus the STARS steer, and one heifer project this year. All beef project members will now spend the winter and spring feeding and training their calves in readiness for show day next spring.
